

Our Heavenly Father's Feast Day

My beloved Brothers and Sisters:

Not long ago it was Father's Day in heaven, and as He celebrated with all His Children in whom He was so proud He could not resist calling Lucifer. When he arrived He said, "My son, come with me. I have something to show you." When they arrived at the highest pinnacle of the earth, Father said, "Look below? Remember the condition that these beautiful sons and daughters of mine where when they began? Now, look. They built pyramids centuries ago when modern man still has no ability to do it. Look at their cathedrals and castles. See what they have been able to do with the gifts that I shared with them?

"And today, look around. You will see beautiful cities everywhere. Huge cities with their superhighways, their tunnels, skyscrapers. Dubai? Cities in China along with their bridges? Yes, I am so proud of them. They have even outdone those in the east.

"Do you remember when it took years to deliver a message? Now my sons and daughters have learned so much about me that they too are able to talk to anyone at the other end of the earth instantly. Within milliseconds their words are heard and exchanged. Remember, I used to be the only one who could do that.

"I was also the only one who could see everything going on in the world no matter where it was. But no longer. My sons and daughters have figured out how I was able to do it, and look! They are doing it with TV, with the internet, with satellites. I am so proud of them because they have become more like me, their Father. After all, they are made to my image and likeness, remember? Oh, I didn't mention about the massive telescopes that they now have that can even keep watch on Me, yes even Me, existing billions of billions light years away from them here on the earth.

"I gave them my gifts and said "share them with one another for the common good of all." They did it! That, Lucifer, makes every father a proud father! Believe me!

"Look at what they are able to do with their own human bodies! They can make parts to replace defective ones. They can even take a heart from someone who died and started it over again in someone else's body where the heart no longer could function. Absolutely, amazing!

Do you realize that they will no longer need airplanes to go from one place to the other? Right! They already have learned how to dematerialize small things and then materialized them completely in another place, without any change to the object. It's only a matter of a few years and everyone will be able to say "Beam me up, Scotty" and off they go. Free of charge!

“Lucifer, I just had to bring you here today because the joy in my heart as their Father has just become so overwhelming that I had to share it with someone who understood. Yes, they have used the gifts I gave them well, and have shared them with others! I bless them abundantly for a job well done! My creation is more beautiful because of my children’s artistic ability.

As Lucifer began to speak our Father said, “Hold it, my son. I know you are anxious to point out something, but before you do I just want to add something more. Now that my children seem to have mastered tremendously their gifts of knowledge, understanding and wisdom, at last they will begin to have time to grow in the most precious gift that I have given them, the gift of Love. Can you imagine what this world will look like when they do that?!

“Yes, they seem to have put the most precious of Gifts off to the last with good reason. I believe that you would agree with Me on that. Remember when you kept coming to me as a young bright angel about my being nothing but unconditional love? You were fascinated with that whole concept, that whole reality of unconditional love. You dove into it deeply, very deeply, because it is so powerful and wonderful.

But then came the day when you said to me, “Father, you just can’t be only unconditional love. You have to be also conditional love.” And as our dialogues continued day after day you kept saying the same thing. No words nor actions of mine could seem to erase that doubt in your mind and heart. Then, came the day when you broke my heart. You said that despite all your love for me, you just could not live any longer without proving your point. You gave me a big hug, which I still hold deeply in my heart, and you left my visible presence.

“Now, let me show you all the good that you have shared with my Children so far? For instance, you became aware that I, in my very essence, am nothing but Love. You realized that my essence being love is power, is energy. Everything in the world is this energy, namely, love. You also became aware, and rightly so, that energy, or love, is lifeless if there is no counterpart. For example, the energy of electricity exists only when there is a positive and negative relationship. Only then is power produced.

“You learned all this well and shared it well. Yes, everything that exists is living with positive and negative elements working together in harmony for the common good of all. Everything! And rightly so because it is my very essence and existence. It is Who I Am. You are correct. Without it, I would not be I AM. But look what happens when the positive and negative aspects of my Unconditional love unite in a harmony of such love! A universe explodes into existence. New Life is born. Joy abounds everywhere. That’s why love is always ecstatic. No wonder there are sparks flying everywhere.

“My dear son, I cannot thank you enough for sharing all this wonderful knowledge about the true nature of unconditional love. Because of your sharing, my children are now ready to put their attention on this true reality. Finally, they are going to be able to look more deeply into their loving relationships and see that there is no need for conditional love, no need for contractual love. Unconditional love is it all.

“Do you realize what wonderful work you have done here? Down through the centuries you convinced them that love was basically conditional, and nothing more. They then shared this precious gift under contracts, like, quid pro quo. If I give you this, then you must give me that. And if you did not respond to my needs then you could be punished, and with time you convinced them that I ultimately am the One who issues the punishment.

“But, with all this education and lived experience, my children are now able to look at our world and say that something is still missing. Remember, they already know what great things happened when they share their gifts from Me for the common good, and as a result they are beginning to ask why has not the same happened in their sharing of love. Some are already able to see that when they put the gift of love under contracts and conditions, they cease to share that Gift for the Common Good of all. Thus, disharmony and conflicts abound everywhere, even within the church, and within their relationship with Me.

“The moment of joy that I am anxiously awaiting now is when they begin to let go of contracts in order that they can unconditionally share their gift of love for the common good. Wow! When that happens the world will explode into an ecstasy of joy! Another Big Bang! And with that, you, my beloved son, will come back home and be lifted also into an ecstasy of love with our being together again, united only with unconditional love. That’s who we are. That all I am and ever will be. And that’s all you my children are and can only be! Unconditional Love!

“Thank you, Lucifer, my beloved son, for this most precious gift of gifts that you are giving to me!”

“My Beloved Father, you are most welcome! It certainly was not what I had planned, but now that I have lived it, I am glad because I was given an opportunity to break open before everyone in this world how positive and negative elements explode into a joyous unity when the beautiful gift of each one is share for the common good of all. That’s Unconditional Love. Trust me, Dad. I will be home soon!”
